Robin Pickering

So she used our platform to invite 3 local business leaders into her classroom to inspire 50 new Sixth Form students to focus their ideas on success in their future.

It was nice to impart some of the things I've learnt over the years as well as discovering the odd entrepreneurial spirit among them.

The event was well attended and the attention of the students was high.

If the students go away with just one thing it would be that they really can achieve anything if they set their mind to it!

It was a great line up with fascinating stories and inspiring advice for our young people.

The event went very well, I've had some good feedback from the students already.
