1

The Thomas Alayne Academy heard about Founders4Schools by another school's principle and wanted to inspire their students, too.

2

So Giovanna Newbery, KS5 Curriculum Manager, arranged an event for their Year 12 students with motivating business leaders to speak at the school.

From the business leaders

"Thanks - I really enjoyed the session. Great kids!"

Without being able to have such high calibre keynote speakers into school our students would be isolated. This is a fantastic way to promote entrepreneurship, higher education and resilience.

On top, the process of booking an event is efficient, timely and well organised.

The benefits are multifold in that all students are inspired in some way by the speakers.

Students and staff particularly liked Shailen's RPM acronym; 'Result, Purpose and My action'
